Southern Storytellers Series Opens This Week

Dick Yarborough

Oct. 7, 2010

"Why Ray Charles Never Sang 'Ohio on My Mind'...and other important facts about the South"

Humor columnist Dick "I don't make this stuff up" Yarborough is the inaugural storyteller for a new series of entertaining presentations open to the community. Yarborough, whose column appears regularly in The Brunswick News and Georgia Trend magazine, takes the Southeast Georgia Conference Center stage Thursday, October 7, at 5:30 p.m.

The $25 tickets for the event, available through the Advancement Office, include a cocktail reception following Yarborough's presentation. Proceeds benefit the College Foundation Annual Fund.

Upcoming Storytellers include Ronda Rich, November 11; Dr. William Rawlings, January 20; and Kate Cambell, February 17.

Office Moves in the Administration Building

If you plan to visit the president's office in the Administration Building, don't look for Dr. Hepburn down the wood-paneled hall. The Office of the President is temporarily relocated to an office adjacent to the southwest corner of the main lobby, space temporarily occupied by Academic Affairs.

Academic Affairs returned to the newly-renovated offices in the northwest corner of the Administration Building, space formerly shared with the Advancement Office.

Locating Alumni, One Person at a Time

In an effort to identify former students and reconnect them to the College, the College Advancement Office is building an alumni data base. All students who attended the College are alumni - friends with a personal story to tell, a shared legacy, a Mariner connection.

Over the summer months, the alumni data base grew from 772 alums to over 4,200. But with a 49-year history, the College still has many former Mariners to locate. Faculty and staff can help the College reconnect. If you meet or know a former College student, encourage them to visit the College website alumni page and register online. For additional information about College of Coastal Georgia alumni, contact the Advancement Office, 279.5702.

The College Foundation set a $1.1 million goal for this year's annual fund. As of September 27, $658,077 has been contributed towards that goal, according to Elizabeth Weatherly, Assistant Vice President for Alumni Annual Giving. Of that goal, $30,000 is targeted as gifts from faculty and staff. To date, 45 faculty and staff members have contributed $15,351. Thank you! But we're still only half way to that year-end objective.

As a member of our College community, you directly experience the exciting changes occurring on campus. While many of our students depend on scholarship support to help them achieve their dreams of higher education, College Foundation funding is about more than student scholarships. It is also about new programs, facilities and technology upgrades, community outreach, and faculty and staff development consistent with the College mission. The Foundation serves as trustee of your contributions and sponsors a wide range of programs inadequately supported by State appropriations. Examples of Foundation funding impacting staff and faculty include:

- Faculty participation in professional development opportunities, such as Don Matthew's presence at the American Economic Association's Continuing Education Program on Financial Economics in Atlanta, January 2010;
- Faculty attendance at conferences relevant to their fields of study, such as Trish Rugaber's trip October 2009 to Scottsdale, AZ, for the 15th annual meeting and conference of the American Society of Botanical Artists;
- Staff assembly meetings; and
- Staff skills development through training programs offered by Human Resources.

Your contribution to the College of Coastal Georgia Foundation for the 2010-2011 Dreams in Action campaign is an investment in our continued growth. If you have not already done so, please visit the link below and participate. For more information on supporting the College through the Annual Fund, please contact the Advancement

Student Government Association Officers Elected

For the first time in over 20 years, the leadership of the Student Government Association (SGA) has been fully elected by the student body, according to David Leenhouts, Director of Student Life. LaTanya Abbott-Austin, SGA President, and Carrie Gossett, Vice President for SGA Camden Center, were elected during spring semester 2010. Sandra Hansen, Vice President for SGA Brunswick, and Victoria Akins, Secretary, were added to the leadership team in a special campus election September 13-14.

Over the past year, SGA redefined their mission and election process. Under the new model, SGA will focus on students' concerns about the College and the process to present and resolve those concerns, including campus priorities for projects to enhance the academic, social, and recreational lives of students and for all-campus community service projects.

Also new this year, each on-campus student organization will select a representative to represent and vote on behalf of their group at SGA meetings. Students interested in SGA may also join, and after attending three consecutive meetings, may request voting privileges.

Beginning with spring semester 2011, one election will be held for all four SGA officers. Criteria to run for office include maintaining a minimum GPA of 2.75 and enrolling for a minimum of 9 credit hours each semester during the term of service.
