Over 200 people attended the stellar benefit performance by Maestro Luis Haza, accompanied by pianist Orlando Alonso, December 2 on the stage of the Southeast Georgia Conference Center. Almost $20,000 was raised to benefit cultural and performing arts programming at the College. The program included two pieces by Pablo de Sarasate (1844-1908), who once owned the 1707 Pietro Guarnerius de Mantua violin Maestro Haza played during the concert.

Timmons as chair of the new Foundation committee, which convenes effective January 1, 2011, and recognized the other committee members present. Trustee Willou Smith will serve as vice chair.
Community participants include Millard Allen, Alice Barlow, Shirley Douglass, Julie Epstein, Norman Haft, Maestro Luis Haza, Heather
Heath, Robert Klem, Malinda Jolley Mortin, Diana Murphy, Terry Readdick, Nathaniel Roper, Mark Spaulding, Abney Whitehead and Mildred Huie Wilcox.

The Planning Committee is charged with:

Conducting a needs/demand analysis for arts, cultural affairs and personal development programming;
Planning programming responsive to community interests;
Determining affordability, viability and sustainability of programming options; and Developing leadership to support long-term programming.

The Planning Committee is to serve as a catalyst and resource for community collaboration. The purpose of such planning is to expand, cultivate and sustain quality arts, cultural enrichment, and personal development in the coastal Georgia region, as developed by community organizations and hosted on campus by the College.
By year-end 2011 the Committee is expected to develop and recommend an initial programming plan.

Mariner Inspiration Results in Creative Naming

Andrew Smith announces student winners of contest

It's official. When the new Campus Center opens next summer, the bookstore will be known as "The Lighthouse" and the dining services will be "Mariner's Galley."

Danielle Siekkinen and Darby Chancey submitted "Mariner's Galley" and will each receive a 30-meal plan valued at $185. Ashley Miller submitted "The Lighthouse" and will receive a $200 Book Scholarship Credit. The awards are effective with the Fall 2011 semester.

Dr. William Rawlings, Jr., Next Southern Storyteller, on Death of Small Town Georgia

Mystery writer William Rawlings, Jr., will discuss his most recent work at the next Southern Storytellers event Thursday, January 20, 5:30 p.m. in the Southeast Georgia Conference Center. The series benefits the College of Coastal Georgia Foundation Annual Fund.

A native of Sandersville, Georgia, where he is a practicing primary care physician, Dr. Rawlings has five published mysteries: The Mile High Club, Crossword, The Tate Revenge, The Rutherford Cypher (optioned for a movie), and The Lazard Legacy. CNN host Nancy Grace described The Mile High Club: "An incredible read! What a page-turner with an intricate plot line! It took all my strength not to race to the last page to find out who-dun-it!" Best-selling author Steve Berry wrote: "Our worst national security nightmare mixed with cutting edge technology - that's The Tate Revenge. Bill Rawlings is onto something."

The $25 tickets, which include a reception following the presentation, are available through the College Advancement Office, 912.279.5702.

The final Storyteller in the 2010-2011 series is folksinger Kate Campbell, February 17.

Walter Wright, Assistant Professor and program coordinator of the Hospitality Management and Culinary Arts programs, is all smiles about the success of the six-night fine dining series beginning in January. The student project is fully subscribed.

The dinners, prepared and served by the students, will be offered January 26, February 23, March 9, March 30, and April 13, with a special Valentine's Day dinner February 14. Meals will be served in the dining room of the Camden Center. The culinary program is fully accredited by the American Culinary Federation.

Ribbon Cutting to Celebrate Campus Event

The scaffolding has been removed. The trees are planted. The sod is down. The date is confirmed. The Ribbon Cutting Celebration for the new Health and Science Building will be held Friday, January 21, at 11 a.m.

In announcing the event, President Hepburn noted, "This celebration will signify our opening the first new academic building on the Main Campus in nearly three decades; it promises to be a wonderful celebration."

The Health and Science Building is the new home for Nursing as well as the Radiological and Clinical Lab Technology programs at the College. With approximately 45,000 square feet of instructional space, the $15.8 million project provides state-of-the-art laboratories, observation areas, patient exam areas, a 125-seat tiered classroom, and an AV control room.

The patient simulator lab is a key feature, as well as the science education learning center lab. Other laboratories include fundamentals, health assessment, microbiology, anatomy and physiology, chemistry, and computer.

The science education learning center lab will be used by teacher education students, health sciences students, and current teachers seeking continuing education opportunities. During the summer, the learning center lab will be available for science camps and other youth programs.

The design of the building focuses specifically on optimizing the students' learning experiences. In addition to instructional space, the building offers seminar, small group, and quiet-study rooms.

Tours of the building and a reception will follow the ribbon cutting.
